PEACE AND LOVE

DEVELOPMENT

ORGANIZATION

Reasons for establishing the organization

1. The prevalence of various health-related challenges within the community has been increasing.
2. The values of love, peace, cooperation, and mutual respect among peoples have been declining.
3. The number of young people, women, and persons with disabilities who are unable to support themselves, are forced onto the streets, and become dependent on begging has been increasing.
4. The community has increasingly moved away from traditional and peaceful conflict-resolution methods, while young people in particular are becoming involved in unnecessary conflicts.

Approval of the Organization's Objectives

1. To provide necessary humanitarian support and ongoing assistance to people affected by illness, mental health challenges, sexual violence, and displacement.
2. To conduct awareness-raising activities that strengthen love, peace, cooperation, and mutual respect among peoples.
3. To support and encourage young people, women, and persons with mental or physical disabilities to overcome poverty and dependence on begging, become self-reliant, develop a culture of work, and become active and productive members of society.
4. To organize and provide training that improves professional knowledge and skills, and to support members and beneficiaries in creating sustainable sources of income and employment opportunities.
5. To encourage the creation and development of products and services that contribute to community growth, recovery, and overall development; support their development and access to markets; and ensure that the community benefits from them.
6. To help low-income families, orphans, and children vulnerable to various hardships by providing educational, health, food, and basic-needs support so that they can build a better future.
7. To organize and implement social, cultural, artistic, and sporting programs among communities in order to promote peace dialogue, tolerance, and a culture of peaceful conflict resolution.
8. To provide necessary support by sending employees of the organization, and individuals believed to have the potential to make significant contributions to the organization, to educational programs and professional training opportunities within the country and abroad in order to strengthen their capacity and work effectiveness.
